HEPATITIS SCARE AT SCHOOL

Eighteen Seaholme State School pupils have contracted hepatitis in the past six months.

The school's principal, Mr. Murray Edmonds told the Star 12 of these cases had occurred this year, three within the past month.

In the school's monthly newsletter he appealed to parents to help train children to wash their hands before eating.

The Altona Council's
health inspector, Mr. J.
Mellors and the council's medical officer Dr. J. H.
Leyden have visited the school and suggested precautions.

Dr. Leyden said: "The health inspector and I are reasonably satisfied that the standard of toilet training and supervision of children by teachers at the school is satisfactory.

"The trouble is that the hepatitis virus has not been isolated and so it is up in the air as to how it is transmitted."

Commenting on the possible causes of the outbreak he said: "Hepatitis is endemic throughout Melbourne, if not Victoria.

"I do believe however that the sewerage of the area is desirable."

Seaholme has the highest proportion of septic tanks installed in the City of Altona.

Dr. Leyden's report is in the hands of the council awaiting discussion.

Cr. Les Crofts told the Star he felt drains in the area should be cleaned up.

He said: "Apart from the possible health hazards they are an eyesore."

A Board of Works
drainage easement about 250 yards from the school carries overflow water from Cherry Lake to the sea, near the Altona Working Men's Club.

Dr. Leyden said: "There is no doubt that the drain carries pathogenic bacteria."

A spokesman for the Fairfield Infectious Diseases Hospital said:
"There is little danger to children from hepatitis, except that it makes them feel terribly sick.

"There is a low mortality rate. The real danger is to the parents, the breadwinners, who may contract it and be off work from five weeks to 12 months or more."

DOUBLE DIDN'T PAY OFF

A motorist had his fair share of bad luck in Altona this week.

Mr. Marian Landiss of Caulfield reported his car was stolen from Russell Street.

It was later recovered in Railway Street, Altona.

Altona police asked him to collect his car from the scene because the thief had left it locked.

Mr. Landiss opened the car door, but couldn't get it started and walked to a nearby garage.

When he came back he found that the car had been stolen again.

Police later recovered
the car intact about 1½ mile down the road.

RODERICK McDONALD, 38, of 93 Millers Road, Altona, pleaded guilty to a charge of having exceeded 35 miles an hour in Melbourne Road on September 14 last year.

First Constable Peter Chamberlain told the court McDonald's car recorded a speed of 59 miles an hour on an amphometer set up in Melbourne Road between Albert and Russell Streets.

He said McDonald told him he had no excuse for breaking the speed limit.

McDonald said he had held a drivers' licence for 20 years, and this was his first conviction.

● Mr. Hammond, SM, fined McDonald $40.

It's a controlled accident

Altona houses many, many organisations, but surely one of the strangest must be the Australian Balloon Club.

Secretary of the club is Mr. Peter White, of Fenfield Street, Altona.

The club is the only one of its type in Australia. The only other similar club is based in Sydney, who specialise in hot air balloons.

Although a Melbourne club, with many members in the western suburbs, the group operates from a private airfield north of Bendigo.

The Department of Civil Aviation won't permit balloons to fly in or near airfields.

Mr. White said: "Australia is lucky in this respect. Airlines run down the eastern and southern coasts, leaving north, south and west-east flight across the middle of Australia free."

"It is possible that Australia is one of the only countries left where long distance record attempts in balloon flights are possible," he said.

Only a small club with some 15 members, the group has made five balloons, all of which have been capable of carrying men.

In September, 1968, two members, Hodges and Norton, made a long distance flight attempt from Western Australia.

They succeeded in travelling more than 300 miles.

The craft, was the Miss Kolotex 2, (pictured above), which had a circumference of 160 feet and capable of lifting more than 1000 lbs., including the envelope, basket equipment and its two passengers.

Ballooning has its dangerous side, as was illustrated in the record-breaking attempt.

The crew were forced to throw out their water supply in an effort to stay up longer.

When they eventually landed in a remote dry area, it took three days to pick them up.

Any longer without water in such heat could have been fatal.

As soon as the basket hits the ground one of the crew pulls a rope which rips a panel in the envelope, deflating the balloon completely, reducing the chance of the basket, and its occupant being pulled along the ground.

The group finance themselves by making blimps for advertising purposes.

At the moment they are making one 15 ft. long for a Melbourne radio station.

Taking about two weeks to build, it is to be 25 feet long and 10 feet wide.

It is the last and perhaps the best of eight, which have been made.

The group also hire their blimps for use, at a comparatively small fee.

Asked why he took up such an unusual sport Mr. White said: "A chap I knew in Newport invited me along on the distance record ground crew, and I just kept following them."

Asked what was the funniest thing that had happened to him with the club he said, launching the first balloon we made, we have had little idea of what it was about.

"Conditions were a bit gusty and the balloon tore away from the net and sailed gaily away into the sky."

"We rang up DCA, but of course they weren't very pleased about a runaway balloon."

Mr. White's wife Adele has only had one tethered flight in a balloon and has no real desire to go again.

Mainly a sport for men or women with strong convictions about equality, anyone interested can contact Mr. White at 27 Fenfield Street, Altona.

Mr. White said: There's a lot more to ballooning than the layman would think.

"Inflating the balloon is a story in itself."

"It involves quite a deal of expense. The Miss Kolotex 2 for example cost $400 to inflate with hydrogen."

"It may have cost three or four times that figure for helium."

To launch the balloon, the envelope, which is the correct name for a balloon, has to be inflated and ballasted.

Ballast includes everything that will be carried on the flight, sand, radios, life saving equipment, batteries and of course the pilots.

Mr. White said: "Once you're off the ground you must keep a balance of ballast and gas, by increasing or decreasing one in proportion to the other, in order to ascend, descend, or maintain altitude."

"On long flights, for example, one that continues through the night, the sun's powers are lessened.

"The gas inside the balloon contracts and the ballast must be adjusted."

"The take-off and flight are comparatively easy."

"The landing is the unknown quantity, which adds to the thrill of flight."

"We call it a controlled accident."

Relating one incident he said that the crew considered themselves lucky when they landed on a barbed wire fence, which held them still until the balloon was "torn".

The method of ascent is to release gas through the top of the balloon.

When you reach your last 50 lbs of ballast you must look for a landing space.

In the landing, you must counteract the increasing earthward speed by throwing out ballast.

Asked what happened if you ran out of ballast before the craft reached the ground, he just shook his head and sighed.

Two caught speeding

Two men, caught unaware by an amphoter in Millers Road, Altona, faced speeding charges in Williams-town Court last week.

John Leslie Perram, of Cornwall Road, Sunshine, pleaded guilty to a charge of having exceeded 35 miles an hour in a built-up area.

First Constable Robert Bracken, of the Police Mobile Traffic Branch, told the court he set up an amphoter in Millers Road between Bunting and Luly streets on October 28 last year.

He said Perram drove between these two streets at a recorded speed of 61 miles an hour.

From the body of the court Perram told Mr. Hammond, SM, he needed his licence because he was getting married in a few days' time and also for his job.

Mr. Hammond fined Perram $45.

In a second case, First Constable Bracken told the court the amphoter recorded a speed of 50 miles an hour for a car driven by a Campbellfield man.

Salvatore Lauretta, of Augusta Avenue, Campbellfield, did not appear in court to answer a charge of having exceeded the 35 miles an hour speed limit on November 19 last year.

First Constable Bracken said the amphoter was again set up between Bunting and Luly streets.

Lauretta's speed was recorded at 50 miles an hour.

Mr. Hammond fined Lauretta $40 and cancelled his probationary licence.

The leatherjackets, very big ones too, could be seen around the piles which were thick with mussels.

HUGE HAULS

There were many huge hauls for a single shot in one net as old timers can testify.

Mr. Stuber said: "In the very early days, Altona already had a club within a couple of hundred yards from the Working Men's Club at Seaholme."

"This club comprised a gigantic boxthorn bush, which was on the fore-shore, near the old tinshed at Seaholme."

"The bust was undercut on four sides to give shelter from the weather."

"There were more fish caught under this bush than in any other part of Port Phillip Bay."

Mr. Stuber recalled that the water supply was an old four inch cast iron main brought into Altona

Police reports

Altona police are investigating two breakings in Railway Street, Altona, last week.

The first was reported by Mr. Kwan Ching, a cafe owner, of 84 Railway Street.

Thieves entered his premises overnight, after smashing a louver window above the door at the rear of the shop.

Assorted brands of cigarettes and a small amount of cash were stolen.

Thieves later entered the premises of Mr. Ross King, a dentist, of 88 Railway Street, stealing $5 in silver from an unlocked filing cabinet.

A cyclist was admitted to Williamstown Hospital after being hit by a car at the corner of Kororoit Creek Road and Millers Road, Altona, last week.

The boy, Barry Moynihan, of Maidstone Street, Altona, was later released, suffering from bruises, cuts and abrasions.

Altona police reminded motorists this week to keep their cars locked when left unattended.

Mr. Keith Venables, of Kensington, reported that notes were stolen from his unlocked car parked on the Esplanade this week.

He said he left the car to collect some scallops.

THE STUBER FAMILY

from Kororoit Creek Road, which followed the railway line and ended in Blight Street.

The main frequently burst and pressure was extremely poor.

There was no reticulation from this main and most houses relied on tanks for their water supply.

When the Stubers first arrived, the Altona State School was a one-roomed affair.

12 PUPILS

It had 12 pupils and was located at the rear of the late Mr. Fleming's house in Blyth Street.

Altona owes a big debt to Mr. and Mrs. Fleming for providing school accommodation.

Mr. Stuber said: "Miss Brennan, our schoolteacher boarded with us for the five school days and each Friday afternoon I would drive her to North Williamstown Station by horse and cart and picked her up again the following Sunday evening."

"The journey was often cold and wet in winter, under the worst possible road conditions, with only a candle burning in an old carriage lamp."

When it was time for Mr. Stuber to go to technical school, he had to walk home from Newport three nights a week.

He said: "Altona's first steam train service must have been unique."

"If there was a passenger running late even if the train already left the station, it was stopped."

"Then it was reversed back into the platform to wait for the latecomer."

TRAIN WAITED

"On Saturday, the local football or cricket match would be played on a large open space at Seaholme. The train crew would uncouple the engine and drive down the track to watch the game for a couple of hours between trips."

He said: "Altona's railway was also noted for its torpedo carriages."

These looked just like the name implies, but Mr. Stuber thinks the term spaceship would have suited them better with their round windows.

When Mr. Stuber's family moved to Altona there was only one shop.

This was in Pier Street, run as a small general store by Mr. Ben Carr and his family. The next shop was a temporary one built at the front of Mr. Fleming's home for supplying the soldiers who camped in Altona.

Mr. Stuber remembers the roaring trade the Flemings did until the camp dispersed.

With the help of his father, Mr. Stuber Jr. built Altona's first houses.

He has a daughter, two grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Mr. Stuber said: "We all like living here very much. In spite of the bad conditions which exist from time to time because of the pollution caused by factories, I still say Altona is a pretty good place."

Wanted—a kind-hearted footy fan

Spare a thought for Mrs. Brown.

She is 83, suffers from arthritis, and has one passion in life — FOOTBALL.

Mrs. Brown, born and bred in the Western Suburbs, is an ardent Bulldogs supporter.

But Mrs. Brown is an arthritis sufferer, and this stops her from using buses.

She has been catching taxis, but at $1.90 a time this makes a serious dent in her pension, so serious in fact she can no longer afford to go to the match.

Last time she ordered a cab to take her home, someone else took it and left her standing in the rain.

It was an hour before a kindly person ran her home.

Mrs. Brown would like a football fan in Altona, who regularly goes to Footscray matches, to take her there and run her home.

She has her own ticket for the season.

Mrs. Brown told the Star: I wouldn't be a disgrace to anyone. "I can dress up even though I'm 83."

Spare a thought for Mrs. Brown, after all, it's her only passion in life. (If anyone can help, please ring the Star).

Mr. Albert Stuber snr. at 18, when he was in the German navy.

The Pioneers THE STUBER FAMILY

Mr. Albert Stuber snr. came to Australia from Germany in 1901 and moved to Altona with his family in 1915.

When the first world war started, things became hard for him, because there was bitterness against Germans at the time.

He could find no employment so he took up fishing for a living.

His son, Mr. Albert Stuber jnr. of Civic Parade, Seaholme, married the former Miss Ivy Neale when she was 18.

The couple were the first residents of Seaholme.

Mr. Albert Stuber jnr. remembers the dramatic night when he was netting with his father and brother Rudolph between the Altona and Magazine piers.

A group of horsemen came galloping from all directions. It was about midnight.

Some of them rode into the sea and completely surrounded the boat and through the sand which extended from Davies

They were members of the Australian Light Horse stationed at the powder magazine.

SCARE

The raid was made because someone had reported that a rendezvous was about to take place with a German submarine which was landing bombs.

The raiding party only found a few snapper and these were taken as evidence.

After Mr. Stuber snr. paid a visit to the Victoria Barracks, he was never bothered again.

Later a large military camp was established at the Altona racecourse.

There were about 10,000 lads camped in Altona and many buildings were hastily built for them.

The whole of Altona was lit up by benzene arc-lights and everyone living in the area had to have a pass.

Nobody was allowed to move around after 7 p.m.

NO TRANSPORT

There was no transport, many of the locals did good business by transporting relatives and friends of soldiers to the camp from North Williamstown at week ends.

The beach was out of bounds, because the soldiers bathed in the nude.

Mr. Stuber said: "Nearly all passengers travelling to Altona had to disembark at Davies Street, so that their horses could pull their vehicles line, what is now known as the Seaholme end, nine families lived. As I recall it, they were: Sands, Flemings, Rayners, Harringtons, Carrs.

"The only other semblance of a made road was a pitched short section in Queen Street, extending from Pier Street to Saragood Street.

"At the opposite end of Altona there was an almost impassable track — through great sandholes along the powder magazine fence leading into Laverton."

FIRST CAR

The first motor car Mr. Stuber remembers was of the horseless buggy type and was steered with a tiller.

This was parked on the block of land now occupied by the Altona Post Office.

Mr. Stuber said: "North of the railway line there was one house — the one we moved into. This house was later altered and became Altona's first community hospital. It was next to the Star Office."

"There were two unoccupied bungalows and a recluse named Goodson lived in a bag tent among some box-thorn bushes on the block at the corner of Pier and Railway streets. This man had between 30 and 40 cats and he went fishing every day to get food for them."

"So north of the railway line from the racecourse and Laverton, there were eight people living — seven members of the Stuber family and Mr. Goodson."

"There were a number of shacks scattered around the beachfront and these were fully occupied during the holiday season."

"Altona was one of the happiest places you could find."

"Visitors came by the thousand even before the advent of the railway and motor cars."

"You had to provide your own transport. Each family had a spring cart or jinker and some had pushbikes."

"Shopping was done in North Williamstown as a rule, but a grocer and baker would call once or twice a week."

However, there are good seats available tonight (Thursday) and through the season, which runs until May 8.

The leading roles in this fascinating Tennessee Williams play, produced by Bob Karl, are June Lowms and Les Terrell, both Cordell Award winners.

Les was, you will probably remember, best actor in last year's Moomba Drama Festival. Robyn McNally from "Grass is Greener," Bill Middlemass of "Odd Man In," Steven Moore from "Five Finger Exercise," Eileen Price, actress. Maggie McInnes, producer from "Semi-Detached" and Val Wilson, the delightful Spanish dancer from "The Duenna" are all well-known to Williamstown audiences.

FURNITURE

All Classes Radiogram, Pianos, Hardware, etc. wanted to buy with cash. Immediate attention. Valuation without obligations. All suburbs and country covered. Ring 68 6665 or write "Auctioneer," 180 Victoria St., Footscray.

John Black, who has been working on "Matlock Police," and Lois Reade, our new wardrobe mistress, are also in the cast.

We have with us for the first time, although they are well-known for their work in other groups, Mary Saunders, Will Deumer, John Klingberg and Paul Tonti-Fillipini.

The leading characters, Alma and John, are played as children by Michelle Lindsay, Deborah Rosenberg, Colin Stephenson and Phillip Wadds. These four children have all been members of the Children's Theatre, as are the other children who appear in the crowd scenes.

The programme notes tell us that the play is a memory and being a memory, it is not realistic. It is about virtue that becomes vice. It is about the loneliness of the person unable to communicate with someone else, even when there is a burning need to.

It will be a new and exciting "Happening" that will make table-talk around the town for a long time.

Why not make sure you know what it is all about?

Gloomy start for Newport

Newport Baseball Club's three senior teams were all well beaten last Saturday.

The loss of several senior players by clearances and retirements has seriously weakened Newport's playing strength.

The A team were well beaten by Fitzroy after holding them scoreless for four innings.

The B team were soundly thrashed by Fitzroy at Newport and the C team, made up of several 15 and 16-year-olds, did well in losing to last year's premiers, Fitzroy, 11-5.

The under-15s won and the under-13 teams had a win and a loss.

The first IX play Collingwood at Ross Shaw Field, Royal Park, at 12.30, the second IX at Newport at 2 p.m., and the third IX at Collingwood at 2 p.m.

All players must report one hour before starting time.

There will be a meeting of the committee in the clubrooms at 7.30 p.m. on Thursday, April 29.

VETERANS

The Williamstown R.S.L. gave a luncheon for the first world war veterans of Williamstown on April 24.

Almost 100 of the "Old and Bolds" were present at this annual event.

The RSL president, Mr. Doug Norman welcomed Cr. J. M. Byron, who was guest of honor.

Most of the old timers are now over 70 and many are in their 80's, but it was noticeable that quite a few of them looked younger and fitter than the people waiting on them.

Many of them were among the 160 ex-servicemen, who attended the dawn service, on the morning of Anzac Day at 6 a.m. at the Williamstown Cenotaph.

Fighting finish for Altona

by Lincoln Green

Altona Hockey Club's A team went down 2-1 in a hard, close fought game against Camberwell on Saturday.

In a complete reversal of form, the A's came out and played constructive hockey which kept Camberwell on the defensive for the majority of the game.

The first half was all Altona, but failure to capitalise in front of goal deprived them of many goals.

Dennis Bartlett was completely dominating his wing-half position, while Wal Lenyszyn and Max Blakiston made many dashing saves in defence. Jeremy Hunter was in everything, and had complete control of the centre-half position.

At the half-time whistle both teams were scoreless and Altona looked the danger.

With spectators on their toes Altona came out into the second half and continued to play their fast, hard-hitting game.

Camberwell broke through Altona's defence only to be turned back by the expert goal keeping of Bob Verity.

Tragedy struck Altona 20 minutes into the half when Lenyszyn had to be carried off with a nasty injury.

Camberwell took this opportunity to score two quick goals against a disorganised Altona side with Keith Robertson on in place of Lenyszyn.

Altona settled down and with good team play scored when Chailis slammed home a great field goal.

The A's once again took the ball into attack and were unlucky not to score the equaliser when the final whistle blew.

Best players: D. Bartlett, W. Lenyszyn, N. Blakiston. Round 3: A Grade v. Old Scotch — 3:15 away. C Grade v. Footscray — 1:30 away. D Grade v. Reservoir — 1:30 away. E

The second half saw systematic play resulting in three more goals.

Three new members of the team settled in well and had a comparatively easy game until OEG pressed forward only to be turned back by ever reliable Cyril Turner and Norm Hunter.

Doug Carruthers had a easy time in his goal position. Altona now head their ladder after another fine win, without top forward Kevin (Bugs) Bugden out with a knee injury.

UNDER 16
Altona had this game firmly in their grasp at half time leading 2-0.

Ivanhoe lifted their game in the second half and the physical strength of this side wore down the lighter Altona side.

Consistently attacking throughout this half they scored 5 goals to Altona's 1.

Goals: P. Aitken 1, G. Sutton 1, F. Keeshan 1.
Under-14 had a bye; under-12 were defeated 3-1.

Courage won it for Centrals

Centrals fought back from a five-goal deficit at half-time to beat South Kingsville at Edwards Reserve on Saturday.

The first quarter opened with Centrals immediately going into attack and scoring a major through Ted Jepson.

However South Kingsville tackling fiercely forced Centrals forwards into error and points resulted.

Centrals were unable to open up their forward line and kicked 2-9 to South Kingsville's 1-2.

South Kingsville with their long kicking and marking strength demoralised Centrals in this quarter kicking 9-2 to Centrals' 1-3. Centrals' back-line was untidy as South Kingsville played to position and looked for one another. Half time scores were South Kingsville 10-4 to Centrals' 3-12.

Brian Trevean exhorted his players to greater effort at half time with a fiery speech and had every player itching to get back on the ground and pull the game out of the fire.

Ron Smutney at full forward began to fire along with Doug Grey and Kevin Gilchrist as Centrals opened the game up with handball. Captain Ken Collins placed the ball to advantage as Centrals stormed to the front at three quarter time and led 10-19 to 10-8.

Centrals playing against the wind in the last quarter had the job in front of them to keep South Kingsville out.

Centrals tackled well and played in front and picked up many free kicks. Otto Stumbras on the half back flank came into his own as he continuously drove the ball out of danger.

John Campbell at full back playing his first game for Centrals took several steady marks and played a big part in keeping South Kingsville from scoring.

Final scores: Central Altona 14-21, 105, to South Kingsville 13-13, 91.

Best players: Ken Collins, Doug Grey (2), Rex Cole (1), Ted Jepson (1), Bill Kennedy and Otto Stumbras.

Other goal scorers: Ron Smutney (4), Jeff Lott (2), Eddy Szatkowski (1), Dita Rikampier (1), Kevin Gilchrist (1).

Centrals second eighteen played a practice match against a combined Brooklyn side on Saturday.

Centrals benefited greatly from the practice but were unable to hold Brooklyn's small men. Central's secretary Eddy Latkowski did a great job umpiring the game.

Final scores were Brooklyn 11-10, 76 to Centrals' 7-6, 48.

Best: George Szatkowski (2), Mick Clancy, Dave Deahl (1), B. Kruhlis (1).

Lack of facilities stops basketball

Lack of facilities is preventing the Western Districts from having a Basketball League.

According to one of the three organisers of the Western Districts Basketball Competition, Brian Kerley, the demand for a league ranging from under 12s to seniors is there.

At present seven teams are participating in the Jack Collins trophy, but many more would like to — if they could.

"But we just don't have anywhere to play," says Brian, who is 6'1" in his stocking feet. "At present we play at the West Footscray YMCA on a Tuesday night, but it's the only night it is available to us."

"The only other place is Albert Park, and it's too far for young kids to have to go."

"What we would like is a stadium this side of the city where people could play, this is what we are fighting for."

Brian, who plays with St. Kilda Business Houses, is assisted in the competition umpiring by St. K.B.H. team mate, 7 foot American Tom Bender and Coburg player Wayne Wright, who at 6'2" is the midge of the trio.

He says that already two of the boys taking part in the competition have shown Victorian State team potential.

"I feel sure that Peter Dredge, 15, of Tottenham Tech (1) will make the under 16 State team this year and that Glen Wright, 17, of Altona North Technical School will make the under 18 State side."

An eighth team, Williamstown Tech, have joined the group but will wait until the second competition, starting at the end of June before competing against the other teams.

WDBC results

The results of the third round of the Western District Basketball Competition puts Footscray Youth Club in a particularly healthy light.

With nine points they are two points ahead of nearest rivals Tottenham Tech. 1, Tottenham Tech, and Altona North Technical School.

At present Altona North Technical School appears to be Footscray-Youth Club's biggest threat.

The teams are competing for the Jack Collins Perpetual Trophy in a seven round competition.

The most valuable player will be awarded with a trophy and each member of the winning team a prize from a sporting manufacturer.

The competition at present reads: Footscray Youth Club: 98 pts. for, 58 points agst. ladder 9 points Tottenham Tech (1) 106 pts. for, 65 pts. agst. ladder 7 points. Altona North Technical School 109 pts. for, 45 pts. agst. ladder 7 points. Altona North High, 38 pts. for, 96 pts. agst. ladder 5 points. Tottenham Tech. (1) 132 points for, 58 points agst. ladder 7 points. Footscray Tech. 4 points for 67 points agst. ladder 5 points Sunshine West High 33 points for 48 points agst. ladder 5 points.

City in a breeze

Altona got away to a good start with the wind and were never headed in their match against Laverton on Saturday.

Altona took a firm grasp on the game when they kicked 10 goals 7 points to Laverton's nil in the first quarter.

In the second quarter Laverton improved, kicking 5-6 to Altona's 1-1. Altona's bad kicking in the third quarter cost them only three goals from 11 scoring shots. Laverton again failed to score.

The fourth quarter saw Laverton pick up well and play as a team. Laverton kicked 4-8 to Altona's 2-7.

FINAL SCORE: Altona 16-23 to Laverton 9-8.

Boyle in the ruck played well. Schwabe at centre-half-forward, Dorn at full forward and Devereaux, forward pocket, also stood out.

Altona City under 16's were pipped at the post in the last round in their game against Williamstown Methodists, at the weekend.

Williamstown won the toss and kicked with a strong wind in the first quarter, opening their forward line up. At the end of the quarter they were 3-8 to Altona's no score.

Altona continued to be caught flat footed until the last quarter, when it looked like they were going to be trounced.

But suddenly they made a last determined effort in the last quarter, bringing them to within six points of their opponents.

During the last five minutes of play Altona had four scoring shots at goal for only four points.

Final scores were Williamstown Methodists 13-18, Altona City 13-12.
